VV_CERAMICS – TERMS & CONDITIONS - CERAMIC OBJECTS

HANDMADE & UNIQUE

All vv_ceramics pieces are handmade and shaped by an individual process. Even when produced as part of a series, each piece is unique. Variations in form, colour, glaze, texture, surface and small details are inherent to handmade ceramics and are not considered defects.

FUNCTIONAL POTTERY

My functional pottery is made using local clay masses and fired at high temperatures to create robust objects intended for everyday use.

Glazed vessels are food safe and dishwasher safe. Nevertheless, I recommend washing by hand to preserve the surface and finish over time. I do not recommend using my ceramic pieces in the microwave, unless explicitly stated otherwise.

Ceramics are durable but not indestructible. Avoid dropping, striking or exposing pieces to sudden or extreme temperature changes, as this can cause cracking, chipping or breakage.

CERAMIC JEWELLERY

Ceramic jewellery, especially rings, requires additional care. Although fired at high temperatures, ceramic remains a hard but brittle material and can crack, chip or break when subjected to strong impact, pressure, bending or being dropped onto hard surfaces.

Jewellery should therefore be removed during activities where it may experience impact, pressure or mechanical stress.

Ceramic rings cannot be resized. Please make sure you select the correct size before purchasing or commissioning a ring. If you are unsure about your size, please contact me before ordering.

COMMISSIONS

Commissions are individually discussed and agreed upon before production. Because each piece is handmade, the final result may differ slightly from sketches, reference images or previous works. These variations are part of the handmade process and contribute to the uniqueness of the finished piece.

Once a commission has been approved and production has begun, changes may no longer be possible.

DAMAGE & CARE

Damage resulting from accidents, impact, misuse, improper handling or normal wear and tear is not considered a manufacturing defect. Please handle all ceramic pieces with appropriate care.

For any questions about the care or suitability of a particular piece, please contact me before use.

CONTACT & SALES

Pieces are available through selected exhibitions, markets, studio sales and social media. Individual purchases and commissions can be discussed directly by email or Instagram DM.

By purchasing or commissioning a piece, you acknowledge and accept the characteristics of handmade ceramics and the care requirements described above.
